Establishment of Ad Hoc Guided Missile Intelligence

Survey Committee

1. Pursuant to the action of the Intelligence Advisory Committee on 19 July 1955 (IAC-M-204, item 3), an ad hoc Guided Missile Intelligence Survey Committee is hereby established under the IAC for the purpose of surveying and evaluating the status of the nation's guided missile intelligence effort on the Sino-Soviet Bloc, and reporting to the IAC fully by 15 October 1955. If, during the course of the survey deficiencies are revealed which require immediate corrective action, interim reports to the IAC will be made.

2. The ad hoc Committee shall be composed of one member and not more than two alternates from CIA; the Department of State; the Departments of the Army, Navy, and Air Force; the Joint Staff; the Atomic Energy Commission; the Federal Bureau of Investigation; and the National Security Agency.* The IAC will designate the Chairman and Secretary.

3. The mission of the ad hoc Committee will be to survey and evaluate the efforts of the US intelligence community in the field of guided missile intelligence, to include the coverage, emphasis, guidance, and status of coordination now existent in this field, and submit a comprehensive report on the state of guided missile intelligence in the US, and in friendly foreign powers, together with recommendations as to IAC action. To this end the ad hoc Committee shall survey the following areas of the guided missile intelligence effort:

- a. Requirements
- b. Guidance to collectors
- c. Collection efforts (covert and overt)
- d. Utilization of community assets
- e. Lateral flow of intelligence information
- f. Intelligence research and analysis
- g. Intelligence production

* Subject to NSA acceptance of an IAC invitation.
